FACULTY

C. E. STRANGE

The head job of North High School belonged to C. E. Strange. As principal, his work was important to the students as well as to the community. Besides serving as faculty and student adviser, he had an understanding manner which helped many students.

MISS A. JEANETTE WALTER

Sophomores were the chief concern of Miss A. Jeanette Walter. Her duty was to help them organize their schedules. She also kept accounts of all I.Q. tests given to North students.

MRS. LEONE LAWRENCE

Mrs. Leone Lawrence had one of the busiest jobs in the office. Along with the minor duties which she completed daily, she was in charge of attendance and tardy records.

MRS. HAZEL FISHER

General office secretary, Mrs. Hazel Fisher, attended to many details in the office including the compiling of data, records of the students and activities in the past year at North.

MISS ROMA JUNE BURT

Miss Roma June Burt, secretary to the principal, spent her time operating the switch board, taking dictation, preparing and sending out transcripts, as well as typing all letters sent out by Mr. Strange.

Perhaps the roughest and toughest job in North High School belonged to Glen K. Hamilton, vice principal. He took care of enrollment problems, class schedules, and over-energetic students. He has been interested in all of the activities and in the athletic events especially.

GLEN K. HAMILTON

MISS LOTTA GREEN

Miss Lotta Green, girls' counselor at North, spent much of her time helping and guiding the students with their problems, both in school and in their social lives.

MISS MARGARET TOMLINSON

Miss Margaret Tomlinson, school registrar, spent her time helping new sophomores organize and prepare their schedules for their future years at North. Juniors and seniors also needed her advice in lining up credits.

MISS RUTH COWLES

Helping to keep the Redskins healthy was the school nurse, Miss Ruth Cowles. Arranging dental check-ups for everyone and tuberculosis tests for the seniors are only two of the many services that she performed.

MISS JANET OXLEY

Balancing diets was one of Miss Janet Oxley's important jobs. Besides being the schools dietitian, she also supervised cooking and baking.

Checking in was Roy Metcalf.

Mrs. Adeline Henderson, second semester English teacher.

The marching band played for all football games, gave half time performances, and participated in many parades. The first semester STAR staff was made up of advanced journalists and five of the beginning journalists. The staff was shown as follows at the typewriters: Tom Bryan, editor, and Kaki Bounous, assistant editor. First row: Joe Stevens, sports columnist; Kay Hisel, feature editor; Kay Sherwood, circulation manager; Connie Lee, reporter; Louise Anderson, typist; Jeanette Stephan, alumni editor; Joan Evans, business manager; Jorita Watson, feature editor. Second row: David Hawley, photographer; Arthur Gould, and John Drowatzky, sports editors; Marvin Carlson, advertising manager; Peggy Rudy, business manager. Not pictured was Rosemary Mibeck, club editor. Photo by Buck's Inc.

Typing up copy were the editors of the first semester STAR, Tom Bryan, editor, and Kaki Bounous, assistant editor.

During the year, the STAR staffs turned out 27 regular issues of the paper, plus a six-page and two eight page papers. Some of the duties of the staffs were to meet deadlines, write and proof copy, write headlines, make up the pages, sell advertising, and hundreds of other details that all helped turn out a paper on Friday.

The STAR editors worked hard during the year and under the leadership of Mrs. Minnie Drowatzky, journalism adviser, turned out the paper on schedule.

Mrs. Minnie Drowatzky, adviser of the STAR and TOWER, was busily working on copy. The blackboard behind her was typical of the journalism classes.

Proofing the page were the second semester STAR editors, John Drowatzky, editor, and Jeannie Pryor, assistant editor.

This STAR staff took over the paper at the beginning of the second semester, and soon became familiar with the problems of putting out a paper. Front row, left to right, were: Tommy Watts, photographer; Keith Taylor, circulation manager; Joe Stevens, sports columnist; John Drowatzky, editor; Arthur Gould, sports editor; Roger Lusk, sports editor. Second row: Jim House, advertising manager; Arthur Six, art editor; Sherri Shubert, club editor; Joan Evans, business manager; Carol Peterson, art editor; Mary Luce, assistant feature editor; Alys Richardson, feature editor. On the steps, bottom to top: Rhea Jensen, feature columnist; Marilyn Jacobs, alumni editor; Kathlyn Keeler, circulation manager; Nancy Norling, art editor; Marilyn Sage, assistant feature editor; Jeannie Pryor, assistant editor; Peggy Rudy, feature editor; Mary Jane Denton, typist. The TOWER staff worked hard this year putting out the first North yearbook with a hard back cover. First row, left to right: Joan Evans, business manager; Louise Anderson, senior editor; Kathlyn Keeler, music groups; Connie Lee, faculty; Arline Six, snapshots. Second row: Jeanette Stephan, circulation manager; Rosemary Mibeck, clubs; Kay Sherwood, co-editor; Kay Hisel, dramatics; Jorita Watson, dances; Marvin Carlson, co-editor. Third row: Peggy Rudy, journalism; Tom Bryan, senior editor; Keith Taylor, sports; Tommy Watts and David Hawley, photographers. Photo by Buck's Inc.

Scheduling pictures, cropping pictures and using the slide rule seemed to be the main problems the TOWER staff ran into, along with identifying pictures, checking senior questionnaires and writing copy; but when the TOWER came out in May, it was agreed that all efforts were worthwhile.

The beginning journalists served as reporters on the STAR while learning the fundamentals of journalism.

A familiar sight at the cafeteria door on Friday was the journalists selling the NORTH STAR and sports programs. Shirley Laham buys a paper from Alys Richardson, while David Bunker waits his turn.

The assemblies this year were enjoyable. The senior assembly featured excellent talent and outstanding scenery. The high point was the finale when the entire cast sang "Old Man River."

The Arkansas City pep assembly was lots of fun. Herb Coin furnished lots of laughter riding a little tricycle.

Probably the outstanding assembly was put on by the faculty. The audience was practically hysterical when the teachers became the students and a student became the teacher.

The sophomores put on a talent show early in the fall.

A television show and several speeches also comprised programs for assemblies.

The dramatics department, under the direction of Miss Ruth McCormick, gave several command performances this year.

The first big play of the season was an all-school affair, "Cheaper by the Dozen." Next, the senior class presented the rip-roaring "Annie Get Your Gun" in real Western style.

The dramatics students also presented a Halloween play, "Twelve O'clock Murder," and three evenings of entertaining Amard plays.

A scene on board a boat from "Annie Get Your Gun" included Jerry Wyckoff, Howard Jones, Alvin Washee, Sherri Shubert and Gene Seely.

Discussing problems of the Wild West show were James McCabe, Tom Bryan and Howard Jones.

Caught in the act of making-up for the senior play, were Ross Thomas, C. W. Fry, Carolyn Fletcher, Ivan Collins and Jerry Perrill.

The jazz singers participating at the "Moonlight on Waikiki" dance were Larry Wims, Bill Chapman and Dick Stockstill. In the center picture, Beth Wright, Joan Evans, Joyce Phipps, Sharon Good and Janet Farha danced as a chorus line at the "Turkey Trot." Ralph Mattingly, Harold Brown and Eddie Brown gave splendid entertainment at the "Moonlight on Waikiki" dance.

Mervyn Criser and Marcia Jess sat out a dance at the "Turkey Trot."

Dances at North during the year included everything from sock-hops to the annual senior prom. Many of the clubs sponsored dances. The Red Cross sponsored the "Moonlight on Waikiki" sport dance. Pep club sponsored the "Turkey Trot," a girl ask boy dance. The Student Council sponsored two dances, a sock-hop and the "Spring Reveille," a semi-formal dance.

Various activities are pictured on division page 35.

On this page are pictures taken at the junior-senior prom, "Sweethearts on Parade," held on February 14. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the king and queen. Judith Nelson, who made a charming queen, and Angel Leon, a handsome king, were chosen out of a group of eight candidates. The crowning was held during the floorshow and afterwards the dancing continued.

Angel Leon and Judith Nelson were crowned king and queen of the junior-senior prom.

Everyone danced to the music of Cliff Sproul at the junior-senior prom.
